GRANDMOTHERS' CONVENTION.

Meeting Was Held at Home of Mrs. M. T. Hughes in Walhalla.

How lovely it is in the calm afternoon or approaching golden twilight of life, to lay aside all care and anxiety and mingle in social intercourse with friends of departed years and to enlarge and strengthen the circle of friendship by the formation of new links to its chain!

Such was the occasion when, on Oct. 21, from 3 to 6 o'clock, Mrs. Marshall Theodora Hughes was the hostess to quite a number of grandmothers at her hospitable home.

The guests were seated on the long porch, the genial hostess being seated at the entrance, receiving the visitors as they came.

After the assemblage was complete each lady was furnished a pencil and a golden-tinted pumpkin, cut from cardboard, with the word "pumpkin" printed near the stem, with the request that each form a list of words, using only the letters contained in the above named word. Eighteen was the highest number made, several of the ladies forming the same number, thereby necessitating a draw for the prize. Mrs. Frank Harrison drew the lucky number and received a dainty and elaborate handkerchief. Mrs. J. P. Keys presented the prize, with the expressed hope that it might never be needed to dry away tears of sorrow.

The second prize, a large pumpkin, was presented to Mrs. Mary N. Ansel, who, instead of word-making, gave a recipe for a most appetizing custard.

Following this contest little Elizabeth Hughes, granddaughter of the hostess, dressed as a "black mammy" of the sixties, displayed wonderful elocutionary art in the impersonation of a child being rocked to sleep in the arms of her nurse, singing in imitation negro dialect and rocking to and fro in accompaniment to the song. The impersonation was richly enjoyed by all.

Master Robin Hughes then distributed paper napkins and a most elegant and delicious salad course, with hot coffee, was served by Miss Lillie Hughes and Mesdames H. R. Hughes and J. P. Keys, thrilling music on the sonora being in progress all the while.

A delightful music program was then rendered by Mrs. H. R. Hughes as pianist and Mrs. W. C. Hughes as soloist, giving the ever appreciated old ballads, "Annie Laurie" and "Old Folks at Home." Just before the crowd dispersed Mr. Hughes brought in a fine lot of large, luscious apples, which were most heartily appreciated.

Each lady then, with many hearty expressions of appreciation for a most delightful afternoon, bade the kind hostess adieu. Those who enjoyed this beautiful reception were: Mesdames Mary Ansel, W. A. Strother, Juli. D. Shanklin, J. D. Verner, Sue Foster, J. J. Ballenger, J. D. Isbell, S. H. Coe, W. T. Hubbard, W. H. Hughes, W. O. White, Frederick Thelkohl, Sue M. Hunsinger, Frank E. Harrison.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Oct. 30.—W. M. Howard, a photographer, who came here from Rockwood, Tenn., this afternoon, shot and killed Mrs. W. O. Mitchell and perhaps fatally wounded Miss Anna Mitchell, her step-daughter, and then shot himself through the heart.
